EDITORS NOTE

What a weekend! From early mornings filled with coffee and chaos to days packed with laughter, debates, and of course, punishments. Putting together The LmunA Times has been an absolute blast. LmunA brought out the very best of Model UN: passionate delegates, spirited discussions, and a press team that worked tirelessly (and joyfully) to capture it all.

To the incredible journalists, photographers, and designers who poured their creativity and energy into every page — thank you. Your wit, dedication, and teamwork turned a whirlwind of a weekend into something truly special.

And to everyone who picked up a copy, flipped through an article, or even just smiled at a headline; this one's for you. LmunA is more than just a conference; it's a community. We're proud to have told its story.

Until next time, keep debating, keep writing, and keep making headlines.
